

David is a presenter/speaker, trainer, mentor, coach and adviser.

He has delivered at conferences at home and abroad, including TEDx Buenos Aires, Northern Rocks and works with schools throughout the UK and internationally, alongside some of the most influential people and the best practitioners in the world of education and training.

David wants to ensure that all young people have an education that brings richness to their lives. To be able to think for themselves and to be committed to building a better world than the one that they are inheriting.

Further details can be found here: <http://therealdavidcameron.net/>